

The Blyth Valley Wedding Fair 2011

We made it a special day!

Sunday 13th February 2011, wedding bells rang out and at 11am St. Mary's Church, Halesworth opened its doors to the first Blyth Valley Team Wedding Fair.

Exhibitors and helpers arrived. Several tables had a quick rearrangement (well mainly one in particular which moved three times) but that added to the fun we had, not to mention Gwen and Stella's door knocking! The stalls were set and what a fabulous selection we had. From toastmaster to cake maker, menswear to videographers, in fact everything for a wedding couple to make it their perfect day.

Anything that seemed like hard work disappeared into oblivion as the aisles filled with people. From near and far, prospective wedding couples, visitors and helpers all enjoyed looking around the fabulous displays.

Everyone was welcomed and thanks must go to all the ladies providing the refreshments and our welcoming committee handing out brochures, not to mention the exhibitors who supported us so fantastically.

If you missed the day you missed a spectacular day. However we have re-printed a few brochures which are available in the church, which will give you an insight into our eleven churches and the exhibitors who were there. Displays of wedding photographs and information were available from the parishes of the Blyth Valley Team and Mother's Union.

Whether you are going to be married for the first time or you may be considering a second marriage after divorce, advice is always available. The church is able to offer bespoke weddings to help you make your special day your very own.

Having your wedding in a church is also the most economical venue available and in today's climate this will prove to be very important.

Whichever of our eleven churches you choose, you can be sure that our care, friendliness and expertise is second to none. After all, we've been doing it for 100s of years!

The wedding fair demonstrated a sense of personal and caring attention. There is no need to buy an expensive wedding package; the church can offer you your own bespoke special day. Our exhibitors demonstrated you can deal with local companies at prices you can afford and still make it a very special day.

After months of planning, numerous emails, telephone conversations, advertising, numerous posters, several arrangements of tables and unprecedented prayer it all came together to make a spectacular day. If you missed this one, watch this space for next year!
